Montana Western Presents Montana Repertory Theatre's "Jabberdoggy: And Other Made-Up Words"

The University of Montana Western is proud to welcome Montana Repertory Theatre's production of "Jabberdoggy: And Other Made-Up Words" on Friday, October 24, 2025, in Beier Auditorium.

Join us as the Spruce Creek High School theatre club presents a play adapted from Lewis Carroll's Alice stories. When AJ is cast as the fearsome Jabberwock, memorizing the famous poem awakens long-buried memories full of teeth, claws, and everything in between. As AJ prepares for opening night, an old hardship and an unlikely friendship collide—leaving AJ to wonder if fear has been telling the wrong story.

With humor, heart, and a touch of Carrollian wonder, Jabberdoggy explores how the stories we tell—on stage and in our minds—shape our fears, and how friendship can help us rewrite them.

Rated G, this moving and family-friendly performance is perfect for audiences of all ages.

"Jabberdoggy: And Other Made-Up Words" will be performed in Beier Auditorium at 7:30 PM on Friday, October 24, 2025.

Special school group and homeschool pricing is available by direct reservation only. To receive the discounted rate, please contact Assistant Professor of Theatre Stephen Seder at stephen.seder@umwestern.edu or 406-683-7038.

Tickets for the general public can be purchased through the University of Montana Western box office webpage: umwestern.edu/bank-of-commerce-performing-arts-series/ box-office. Tickets are $16 for general admission; $12 for seniors (65+), youth (18 & under), and military; $10 for UMW faculty/staff; and free for UMW students with a student ID.

To learn more about the Bank of Commerce Performing Arts Series and this year's productions, visit umwestern.edu/bank-of-commerce-performing-arts-series.

Montana Western Fine Arts Gallery Presents "The Series of Christ"

The University of Montana Western Fine Arts Gallery is honored to present "The Series of Christ" by the late Jim Corr, a distinguished alumnus, educator, artist, and coach. The exhibition will open on Thursday, October 30, and will feature a gallery reception from 5:00–7:00 p.m. in the Fine Arts Gallery, located in Main Hall.

The first painting in this series, The Appearance (1975, Oil on Canvas), came to Jim during a time of deep personal sorrow. After his son Mick suffered a serious motorcycle accident, Jim turned to painting as a way to process his grief and seek solace. What began as a simple background with an airbrush evolved into an unplanned image—Christ's face emerging from the canvas. This unexpected moment inspired a profound spiritual journey. Each piece in "The Series of Christ" reflects the emotions Jim experienced through his son's recovery—hope, sorrow, anger, forgiveness, and acceptance. The series reveals the deeply human side of Christ, mirroring Jim's own empathy and connection as a father and believer. The paintings were, as Jim described, both a prayer and a healing process to the sorrow.

A 1954 graduate of Western Montana College of Education (now the University of Montana Western), Jim Corr earned degrees in English and Fine Arts, with a minor in Physical Education, followed by a master's in education in 1961. As a student, Jim was a three-sport letterman and captain of the baseball team, served as president of Kappa Pi, and contributed to the Chinook yearbook staff. His legacy continued as a teacher, coach, and mentor—spanning 16 years in Montana public schools before returning to Montana Western as an art instructor, gallery director, art club advisor, and coach. Jim's impact on the university community is lasting. He was inducted into the UMW Athletic Hall of Fame (1992), received the Alumni Distinguished Service Award (1994), and was honored in the UMW Education Hall of Fame (2015). Jim "Lefty" Corr passed away on September 19, 2017, doing what he loved—walking down the ninth hole after a great drive at the Beaverhead Golf Course.

This exhibition is made possible through a generous donation of "The Series of Christ" from the Corr family to the University of

Fish and Wildlife Commission makes changes to deer B licenses in northeast Montana

Changes come in response to EHD outbreak

During its meeting Oct. 9, the Montana Fish and Wildlife Commission made a regulation change to limit the number of white-tailed deer licenses in northeast Montana in response to hemorrhagic disease outbreaks in the area.

The commission voted to limit the sale of the region-wide 006-00 deer B licenses to 2,000 total and only allow one 006-00 deer B license per hunter. Hunters that purchased more than one 006-00 license prior to Oct. 10 can still use those licenses. At the time of the meeting Thursday about 1,400 of the licenses had been sold this year.

The action is in response to late summer and early fall outbreaks of epizootic hemorrhagic disease (EHD) and blue tongue (BT) in northeast Montana, primarily along the Milk River from Nashua to Havre. Hunters should be prepared for lower numbers of white-tailed deer along sections of the Milk River and may want to focus efforts elsewhere in the region where populations were not affected.

Both EHD and BT are viral diseases transmitted by biting midges and primarily affect white-tailed deer, though mule deer and other species can also be impacted.

The viruses are often fatal and can result in large numbers of dead animals in a very localized area. Though the regulation change made by the commission will address some concerning outbreaks in northeast Montana, this year FWP field staff have found cases of these diseases around the state.

While the disease can cause significant losses in localized deer populations, outbreaks are usually short-lived and confined to certain areas. With the recent below freezing temperatures, FWP expects mortalities related to EHD/BT to slow.

Hemorrhagic diseases are not a risk to humans, and meat from animals that appear healthy at the time of harvest remains safe to eat when properly cooked. Hunters should avoid harvesting or consuming animals that appear sick.

FWP will continue to track the extent of the outbreak and provide updates as needed. For more information about hemorrhagic disease in Montana, visit fwp.mt.gov/conservation/diseases.

My dog Jake has been diagnosed with allergies to everything except VENISON, BEEF LIVER and RICE. Beef liver can cause copper poisoning in dogs. If you have any venison, elk or moose in your freezer that you don't want I sure could use it. I will pick it up. Call me - Catherine Cain 406-498-6198 Jake thanks you!
