Montana Western and Bank of Commerce Performing Arts Series Present "The Laramie Project"

The University of Montana Western's Theatre Program and the Bank of Commerce Performing Arts Series are excited to present "The Laramie Project" on Monday, November 3, and Tuesday, November 4, in UMW's Beier Auditorium.

In October 1998, a twenty-one-year-old student at the University of Wyoming was kidnapped, severely beaten, and left tied to a fence in the middle of the prairie outside Laramie, Wyoming. His bloody, battered body was not discovered until the next day, and he died several days later in a nearby hospital. His name was Matthew Shepard, and he was attacked because he was gay.

Playwright Moisés Kaufman and members of the Tectonic Theater Project made six trips to Laramie over the course of a year and a half in the aftermath of the attack and during the trials of the two young men accused of killing Shepard. They conducted more than 200 interviews with people from the community—some directly connected to the case and others ordinary residents of Laramie. The breadth of these perspectives offers a fascinating and deeply human portrait of a town grappling with tragedy.

From these interviews and their own experiences, Kaufman and the Tectonic Theater Project created The Laramie Project, a moving theatrical collage that explores both the depths of cruelty and the heights of compassion within humanity.

Directed by Stephen Alan Seder, Beatrice Penn, Adeline Michels, and Kendel Puccinelli, the production is brought to life by students from THTR 276: Play Production, featuring members of the UMW Drama Club alongside students from THTR 120: Introduction to Acting. The show also includes Christina Scruggs, a former cast member of the Virginia City Players and the Brewery Follies, who plays Romaine Patterson and the Narrator. The Laramie Project features more than 40 cast members, including UMW students, faculty, staff, and Dillon community members.

Performances will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, November 3, and Tuesday, November 4, in the Beier Auditorium located in Main Hall.

Montana Department of Justice warns of increased presence of carfentanil in Billings

The Montana Department of Justice (MTDOJ) and Billings Police Department (BPD) are warning citizens of the increased presence of the synthetic opioid carfentanil in Yellowstone County.

The Eastern Montana High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Task Force recently seized a large amount of dangerous drugs trafficked into Montana from out of state following a tip from a federal partner. The State Crime Lab tested the drugs and found that a 5,300-pill seizure tested positive for carfentanil. Seizures involving carfentanil typically result in one or two seized pills.

Carfentanil is a synthetic opioid, used to tranquilize elephants, and is approximately 100 times more potent than fentanyl and 10,000 times more potent than morphine. These substances can come in several forms, including powder, blotter paper, tablets, patch, and spray. Some forms can be absorbed through the skin or accidentally inhaled.

"This bust is just the latest in the rise of carfentanil seizures in Montana," Attorney General Austin Knudsen said. "Remember these drugs are extremely dangerous and one pill can kill. I appreciate law enforcement's efforts and hard work to get these drugs off our streets and save the lives Montanans."

So far in 2025, the State Crime Lab has analyzed nine different seizures that have tested positive for carfentanil. Of those nine, seven of the seizures were requested from an agency based in Yellowstone County. The Bozeman and Great Falls Police Departments requested the other two seizures be tested for carfentanil. In May, MTDOJ and BPD warned citizens of another large seizure of carfentanil.

Do not use any pill or prescription drug you have not been prescribed. If you find pills or substances that you are unsure of do not touch them without the appropriate personal protective equipment. If you believe you have ingested this drug or are suffering from an overdose, contact 9-1-1 immediately.

Some signs that may indicate an overdose:

- Small constricted "pinpoint pupils"
- Falling asleep or loss of consciousness
- Slow, shallow breathing
- Choking or gurgling sounds
- Limp body

General season opens with above-average hunter participation and success rates at most game check stations in southwestern Montana

Montana's general hunting season for deer and elk kicked off on Saturday with seasonably mild weather and high hunter participation in many areas of southwestern Montana.

Wildlife biologists with Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks use check stations to collect data on hunter participation and success, as well as the species, sex and age class of the animals harvested. This supplements data collected through hunter harvest phone surveys each year. Hunters are required to stop at game check stations they encounter, regardless of whether they harvested an animal.

Over opening weekend on Oct. 25 and 26, biologists operated six check game check stations in Region 3, including Alder, Cameron, Canyon Ferry, Divide, Gallatin and Silver City. They met with 2,480 hunters, who collectively harvested 148 elk, 40 mule deer and 10 white-tailed deer, among other species.

Hunter success rates were at or above average for opening weekend at the Canyon Ferry, Divide, Gallatin and Silver City check stations. Hunter success rates were below but near average at Alder and Cameron. Success rates ranged from 6 percent in Silver City to 13.4 percent in Divide.

Bulldogs, Barrett Hospital Team Up to Stand Up to Cancer

The University of Montana Western athletics department is partnering with Barrett Hospital & HealthCare to host Bulldogs Stand Up to Cancer during the home football game Saturday, Nov. 1, at Bulldog Stadium. The initiative is designed to honor those who are battling cancer, those who have beaten it, and those remembered with love.

Fans attending the game will be invited to write the name of loved ones affected by cancer on a special tribute card. A table will be located inside the stadium in the Pioneer Federal Pavilion for fans to fill out their cards prior to kickoff.

At the two-minute warning of the first half, everyone in attendance will be asked to stand and hold their cards high, joining together in a powerful moment of recognition, hope and support.

The collaboration reflects the shared commitment of Montana Western Athletics and Barrett Hospital & HealthCare to strengthen community well-being and promote compassion across Beaverhead County.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1 p.m. as the Bulldogs take on Eastern Oregon.
